I HATE DATING APPS
IHATEDATINGAPPS.COM

A PODCAST ABOUT LOOKING FOR LOVE IN THE DIGITAL AGE

Getting ghosted, getting catfished, receiving endless d pics… These are just a few of the topics being explored on the new podcast "I Hate Dating Apps," hosted by Jinah Kim and Daniel Yi, former co-presidents of AAJA's Los Angeles chapter.

Jinah and Daniel are available for interviews at AAJA 2023.

"Daniel and I have been friends for years since our days as co-presidents," says Jinah. "During our most recent get together, I was telling him about my recent adventures on dating apps and this nightmare date I had gone on… and that turned into a three-hour conversation."

That conversation has led to a podcast that's one part hilarious story-telling and another part poignant facts and research about looking for love in the modern age.

More singles now meet online than through friends and family, but the experience is a mixed bag at best. According to the Pew Research Center, roughly half of dating app users report negative experiences. "I Hate Dating Apps" asks why? And it explores common pain points with guests who offer real-life experiences about peeves, eye-rolling, hair-raising encounters, and yes, d pics.

HOSTS

JINAH KIM is a part-time broadcast correspondent, an entrepreneur and a divorced mom trying to find the light at the end of the dating app tunnel.

jinah@wwpvideo.com

DANIEL YI is a former journalist and communications professional living in Los Angeles. He found his third wife on Match.

danielyi@rocketmail.com

🌐 ihatedatingapps.com

f facebook.com/groups/ihatedatingapps

📷 instagram.com/ihatedatingappspod

♪ tiktok.com/@ihatedatingapps

▶ youtube.com/@ihatedatingapps